

SEVEN ESSENTIAL LIFE SKILLS

Skill Building Book Tips

You can read I Am Different! Can You Find Me in a way that highlights Making Connections, a Life Skill that promotes Executive Functions. This Life Skill is at the heart of learning—figuring out what's the same and what's different, and sorting these things into categories. Making unusual connections is at the core of creativity. In a world where people can Google for information, it is the people who can see connections who are able to go beyond knowing information to using this information well.

TIP:

Help your child look for clues to find the one picture that is different: is it a different color, a different shape or a picture that is reversed? The answers are in the back—but don't look too quickly. Struggling a little makes this game more fun and a deeper learning experience.

SKILL:

I Am Different! Can You Find Me? offers many different opportunities to make connections. Making Connections involves finding out what is different and what is the same in each of the pictures, which calls on Executive Function skills.

TIP:

On each page, read the question: “Can you find me?” in English or in your native language. Then read it in the language on the page.

SKILL:

Your child is learning to make connections between words in his or her native language and the other languages in the book.

TIP:

Ask your child:

- “Why do you think that there are pictures of stars on the page when the language is Hebrew?”

SKILL:

Making Connections includes learning what symbols represent.

TIP:

Explain that many words that have become part of the English language originate from activities or objects that are important in other countries, such as the words “hula” or “ukulele” in Hawaiian.
